ONCE UPON A TIME...

A CONVENT BECOMES A HOTEL

This former convent was built in a peaceful green setting by Pierre Marie Bossan in 1854 for the Sisters of the Visitation. As the years passed, the building underwent successive changes. In 2011, the èhôtels-Collection Group became interested in the building's historical heritage. Rehabilitation studies, renovation and redevelopment of the site lasted four years. In November 2015, the former convent became Fourvière Hotel****, a hotel as atypical as it is poetic.

HISTORICAL HERITAGE AND CONTEMPORARY ART

Fully aware of Lyon's cultural wealth, the hotel designers wished to share this heritage with visitors by telling the story of Lyon through multiple references found everywhere in the building, such as the portraits of important figures from Lyon and their history on the doors of the 75 rooms, a wall printed in the spirit of a canut (silk worker) workshop, an authentic Guignol puppet theater, a film room paying tribute to the famous Lumière brothers and other details that guests discover as they walk through the different areas.

Designed by the Franco-Argentinian artist Pablo Reinoso, a visual pathway highlighting three works was specially created for the building - Fourvière Forest, Fourvière Bench and Freeze-Frame Clouds - and invites guests to immerse themselves in the world of the Fourvière Hotel Lyon.
